

Lady Vengeance

Moulettes

I am a creature who lives by the weather,
who walks with a soft tread upon the ground.
Eyes keen in darkness. Ears of a sharpness.
Often sought after, but rarely found.

Now Iâ€™ve come to burn it down! (Look where you have ended up! ended up!)

Dreamed of an empire, sick with a canker, foretold the disaster that it breeds.
Chain reaction, sweet distraction,
You meddle in places you should not be.

Now Iâ€™ve come to burn it down! (Look where you have ended up! ended up!)

I have met you before, but I think this time you will remember.
I have met you before, but I think this time you will remember.
I have met you before, but I think this time you will remember.
I have met you before, but I think this time you will remember.

Lyrics submitted by Kyler Furlotte.

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnlyrics.com/>