

Vague Space

Stephen Malkmus

Do you want to know where it stands right now?

Do you really care what, when, why, or how?

I came to crave your spastic touch

The honest way you move is too much before we can change we could levitate

Erase mistakes of the forest greats

Fermented minds could make them shake

Permission granted for the wolverine stakes, A Love to tear you off The formless matters of the brain

Inequality of the drifting chain

A moment I could learn to love

The salutations to the levels above

We'll split the difference, call it quits

This is no new romantic blitz-krieg

Pull off the foil and watch it break

A whisper's crushing all the sympathy gates A Love to tear you off
