

Taking Chances

Billy Ocean

The woman is mine, why do we cheat and lie
Why do we go on this way
Spending our time, searching for alibis
Hiding our secrets everyday We both have somebody else
How can we break their hearts
We'll have to start Taking chances, each time we meet
Casual glances when it ain't right to speak.
We can't let it show
We can't let them know
So we'll just have to keep on taking chances you and I We know its wrong
We can't slip away
I guess it _____
Tell me how long, can we go on this way
Frightened of talking in our sleep Sometimes I wish it would end
That would break our hearts
We'll have to start, taking changes
Each time we meet
Casual glances when it ain't right to speak. We can't let it show
We can't let them know, so we'll just have to keep on taking chances you and I, baby you and I, you and I.
Casual glances, you and I, you and I, you and I.
Taking chances, baby you and I, you and I
Casual glances you and I, you and I, you and I
We're taking chances.....

Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnyrics.com/>