When Everything Falls Back Down

Action Item

She packed her bags and left
She tries to make it out West
And now she's on her own
It's getting harder to breathe and she needs to believe
When she's out there she's not aloneWhen everything falls back down
That's where you'll find me
You know that i've been waiting for you
When everything falls back down
That's when you'll know that you will never be alone
You know that i've been waiting for youShe finally gets to sleep,
But all she really dreams is of a place to restart
She's scared , but oh so brave,
'Cause she's so far away, but she'll never be too farAnd i said, hey when you go, take it slow
Take a breath and don't forget
The place that you call home
'Cause i'll be here waiting
And time may take its toll
But while you're out there, you gotta knowWhen everything falls back down
That's where you'll find me
You know that i've been waiting for you
When everything falls back down
That's when you'll know that you will never be aloneAnd these are the words you heard
The one's that may have saved your life tonight
When everything is falling down around you
And i'll surround you; i know you'll shineWhen everything falls back down
When everything keeps falling right backWhen everything falls back down
That's where you'll find me
You know that i've been waiting for you
When everything falls back down
That's when you'll know that you will never be aloneYou know that i've been waiting for you
