

Rain Dance

Aardvark Spleen

They stood with open mouths to the foreboding sky
In breaths they took in could not ask why
The grey above would not reply
No laws, no cause, no roars left to try

Blue sky blue
I can't believe in you
No scream can parry these winds in chance
No dream can carry this rain dance
The sky keeps getting farther away
The dance for rain will not work today

No why to stand under
To tear down the sky
No sky to land thunder
No why
The clouds disperse, but they can't even try
To rescue gods who all must die
