

Wild in the Woods

Dead Can Dance

Wild in the woods of love
We harm those whom we adore
Contrary to other intentions
We suffocate them in an alarming embrace Listen child, try to understand
All is not what it appears to be in the world at hand
Your dreams are bought and sold for a price
The truth a burden to plead for the rest of your life These paths that we've chosen
They lead to fear and despair
So we look from and experience without
The true love
All is hidden in the greenery
We're all brothers and sisters in spirit Wild in the woods of love
We harm those whom we adore
And contrary to other intentions
We suffocate them in an alarming embrace
