

For Marlon

SoKo

I broke my toes cause when I'm sad I get as clumsy as a stupid clown and you are way too young to understand and I'm way too desperate to be seen so I fall for you like a fool for gold cause you look so pure and I love your voice I can hear the cracks of your youthful heart and it makes me wanna be a part of that Till I say what's there on your arm?
You said don't look, please don't ask I know you won't like to know that I'm a recovering addict and sometimes I relapse
But if I get sober would you swear to love me?
If I get sober would you care for me? And as I was ready and didn't care to doubt the will has been left to drought I thought I knew back then to never ever trust someone for who drugs comes first and I think there's no love but just proof of love and you just proved me that you'd never care and it's been raining now for three days straight as a sad reflect on my sorry state And I remember you said with me you felt the best that you ever ever felt and I think that no drugs can replace the warmth and tenderness that we embraced But if you get sober
I will be here for you
If you get sober
I'll be yours for good.

Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>