

Down To Earth

Charlie Landsborough

Darling it's easy to blame someone else for your problems Finding relief in pointing your finger else where Sooner or later there's something you have to face up to You can't spend your whole life pretending it just isn't there. You're playing the part of an untarnished heart that's been broken
The unwilling victim of so much deception and lies
When you've unraveled the nuts from the words you have spoken
Just take a good look at yourself with those innocent eyes. You are no angel and yet your expecting perfection
Compare me to saints when you're trying to establish my worth
All I am asking of you is a change of direction
I'll be waiting to love you if ever you come down to earth. Music

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnlyrics.com/>