Breaking My Heart

OMC

The lady you were going to America with just left on an early plane
She took the keys to the apartment and left you standing out in the rain
Well, all the bros try to tell you but she said I dont wanna know
She basically taken everything and left you nothing to your name
Nothing to your nameYou borrowed money from the brothers now, time to collect the claim
You cant even pay for the coffee but still you point the blame
Its like youre waiting for a miracle man, its just one of those daysWell, I suppose you were never told, so the story unfolds
I think youve gone too far this time but who am I to say?
Well, all your debts are numbered now, shall we call it a day?
Call it a day?Oh man, youre breaking my heart
Oh man, youre breaking my heart
Oh man, youre breaking my heart
Oh man, youre breaking my heartYour mother hides behind the curtains when you pull into her drive
She wipes her tears because the only time she sees you
Is when youve taken a diveYou keep saying thats the system man but you and I know
I think its time to count your blessings friend
Youre the only one to blame, only one to blameOh man, youre breaking my heart
Oh man, youre breaking my heart
Oh man, youre breaking my heart
Oh man, youre breaking my heartThree years later and you change your ways
Youve got a stupid grin on your face
Youve learned your lesson at long last
What a shame you had to learn that wayId like to leave you with just two things
You can take them anyway you like
But when youre in they all come around
And when youre out they dont wanna knowBut when youre in they all come around
And when youre out they dont wanna knowOh man, youre breaking my heart
Oh man, youre breaking my heart
Oh man, youre breaking my heart
