The River

For the Foxes

Lay down so I don't feel so sick,
Get lost and dream Los Angeles,
Wake up when I found the riverLay low and walk down lazy streets,
With a peace sign cut from a magazine,
Wake up when I found the river,
And I'm listening...Wherever you are when I'm on the road,
Were driving back past country homes,
Im calling home for you, for youThis is the last time
So darling close your eyes,
We don't say goodbye
So we'll just say goodnight,
This is the last time
So jump into that fire,
We don't say goodbye
We just say goodnightClosed eyes I cancel out the green,
Thoughts bounce around like trampolines,
Wake up were next to the riverSunsets they race down boulevards,
Street lights lit up like dim cigars,
Wake up we're back in SeptemberWherever you are when I'm on the road,
We're driving back down country roads,
I'm calling home for you, for youThis is the last time
So darling close your eyes,
We don't say goodbye
So we'll just say goodnight,
This is the last time
So jump into that fire,
We don't say goodbye
We just say goodnightNo, No...
No, No...Wherever you are when I'm on the road,
We don't have to feel alone,
I'm calling home for you, for youLay down so I don't feel so sick,
Wake up to see you once againAnd this is the last time
So darling close your eyes,
We don't say goodbye
So we'll just say goodnight,
This is the last time
So jump into that fire,
So jump into that fire,We don't say goodbye, we just say goodnight.
