

House of Broken Dreams

The Williams Brothers

Livin' in a house of broken dreams
Where shadows throw shadows on the wall
And memories are mountains to climb
Knowing everyone can fall
And here where the cobwebs count the hours
Since we let the laughter clear the air
Painfully trying to touch
Knowing that we used to care
Separate houses, separate hearts
It's hard to face the feelings tearing us apart
And in this house of broken dreams love lies
Can we keep our castles in the air
While we're keeping both feet on the ground?
'Cause if your heart can touch another heart
Love can turn it all around
Get rid of those empty glances and empty sighs
Or tears of longing will fill your eyes
And in this house of broken dreams love hides

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>