

Underneath My Skin

Sparzanza

memories reflect like a mirror pages for every stain in my mind shadows walk behind me every step i take faces stare apart me every night and day it cannot be seen it can't be heard my scars they have healed but i'm still hurt i will always carry this burning within forever underneath my skin searching for some kind of reason waiting for days that just won't come everything i ever had turned into dust everyone i used to know damaged my trust it cannot be seen it can't be heard my scars they have healed but i'm still hurt
forever underneath my skin all the voices inside my head all the sickness that hides in me makes me long for the final rest this is not who i want to be no, this is not me it cannot be seen it can't be heard my scars they have healed but i'm still hurt
forever underneath my skin it cannot be seen it can't be heard my scars they have healed but i'm still hurt
forever underneath my skin
