Brother

Brett Eldredge

Brother, I think it's time we talk
Why do guys like us spend most our lives playing it tough?
Oh and brother, I see this world has got you down
You look like you look when you got your heart broke in seventh grade by Katie BrownWe played ball out in the yard, we raced our bikes, we wrecked our cars
Stayed out late at midnight bars
We got drunk out in the fights, fell for the singer once or twice
Some how, we made it out alive
In the end, we're always there for each other
Oh, brother
When I couldn't see, you always found a way to believe in me
You were the quarterback when I rolled the bins
The knuckle ball that nobody could hit
If you're the underdog, you're the comeback kid
You find a way to get through thisWe played ball out in the yard, we raced our bikes, we wrecked our cars
Stayed out late at midnight bars
We got drunk out in the fights, fell for the singer once or twice
Some how, we made it out alive
In the end, we're always there for each other
BrotherOh brother, I hope you know I'll take a bullet
Stand out on the front line
Oh life is short don't you know it
Everybody needs a partner in crime
You had my back when dad got sick
You being there is what did the trick
We both thought that was it
You were my first call in that night in jail
You rushed in to pay my bail
We sure raised a lot of hellI still make you swear to never tell my mother
Oh, we will always be there for each other
Brother, oh brother
