To Tell You Everything

Terri Clark

All this runnin' nowhere fast
All these faces that I pass
All these souls that don't reach out
Leave me feelin' so withoutI think you got here just in time
I think it's meant to be
An' I'm ready to do anythin'I want to tell you everything
Every nightmare, every dream
Every fear I've ever had
All the good an' all the badAll the secrets that I've kept
My mistakes an' my regrets
The relief that it would bring
Just to tell you everythingJust to be all you need
When you need somebody there
Just to let go an' still know
You won't go anywhereJust to find myself again
Tell you who I've always been
Just to feel my spirit rise
When I look into your eyesAnd see what I've been dyin' for Baby, I want nothin' more
Than these songs I'm gonna sing
When I tell you everythingJust to be all you need
When you need somebody there
Just to let go an' still know
You won't go anywhereAll this loneliness that ruled
All the years that had me fooled
Now they seem to slip away
When you turn to me an' sayI think you got here just in time
I think we're gonna be just fine
An' it would be enough for me
Just to tell you everythingBaby, I'd do anythin'
I want to tell you everything