This Trust Will Kill Again

Refused

You knew what I was gonna say
When I didn't, I did anyway, it seems
I'll survive with self-respect intact
And you?Every freedom needs a trust
This trust will kill again for you
And someone else won't believe their eyes
While a thousand will believe that it's true
This trust will kill again for youThrough tales of objectivity you shake my hands
All that objectivity could break them both
Whatever I say, context aside
You've got what you needMake sure
I say what they want to readEvery freedom needs a trust
This trust will kill again for you
And someone else won't believe their eyes
While a thousand will believe that it's true
This trust will kill again for youIt won't happen again
I'll survive with self-respect intact
They're telling me
I should have known betterWell now, I know
Now I know
And, now I know, yeahAll that objectivity
Nothing
All that objectivity
Nothing
