Happy

Brian Dolzani

She is happy she is happy to anybody it's plain to see She's a mother twice over
and her babies fast asleep

There is nothing there is nothing she would trade for her life She's a sister and a lover and a friend and a wife

and her babies fast asleep

She is dying of a cancer
It will take her someday soon
When I see her she is smiling She's never seen the sky so blue

Ain't it something ain't it something How what we see seems to change
When we know it might be the last time
We ever see it again

and her babies fast asleep
