

Desolation Angels (Centipede Remix)

The Devoted Few

down in the colorful night, she is never ever leaving my side or my sight, and it's like i'm seeing her now for the very first time her face becomes religion, and i can't believe she's mine and the ghost will sing another linedrown in the colorful night, she is never ever breathing anything now we're high, and i'll swear i'll never see you again by my side this town becomes a river, now she's on my mind and the ghost will sing another lineand it's something that i've saved i just can't believe she's never coming back my way again and the reasons that i've changed are the reasons that i know how far to push you awaydoubt in the colorful night, she could never ever see it anything past her pride, and it's like she's make believing that her life's alright this house becomes a mirror to the town outside and the ghost will sing another lineand it's something that i've saved i just can't believe she's never coming
back my way again
and the reasons that i've changed are the reasons that i know how far to push you awaydesolation angels won't you come home soon.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>