Numb Yourself

Citizen

Mourn to cut through
I found your merit in a furrow nearby
Mourn to save you, your own beholder
Your own beholderThese walls are built so you can confide
They're painted handsomely so you abide
This glass is coloured black, so close your eyes
Numb yourself and you will stay insideBenign, blame yourself
A feeble rodent can only withstand so much
Knives point at me when you are guilty
You are guiltyPay it forward until you are free
Nothing else is worth it, only meSettle your wounds
Fill your cup with something new
Settle your wounds
Strip yourself from what you knewI've placed the boards across your windows
I've nailed your hand so you can kiss the floor
A blanket suffocates the things you know
Numb yourself, like you did beforeNumb yourself, like you did before
Numb yourself, like you did before
