Love Steals Us from Loneliness

Idlewild

Every step takes a beat of your heart
Through a city that's falling apart
On a night that rises and clears
In a sky that's clouded by years
My anger is a form of madness
And so I'd rather have hope than sadnessAnd you said something
You said something stupid like
"Love steals us from loneliness
Happy birthday, are you lonely yet?"I misplaced your face in the shape of a smile
On a night that could never surprise me
Don't tell me you're afraid of the past
It's only the future that didn't last
You're kidding yourself, kidding yourself
You're going nowhere and you're going there fastAnd you said something
You said something stupid like
"Love steals us from loneliness
Happy birthday, are you lonely yet?"You said something
You said something stupid like
"Love won't shield us from loneliness
Happy birthday"You said something
You said something stupid like
"Love steals us from loneliness
Happy birthday, are you lonely yet?"Are you lonely yet? Are you lonely yet?
Are you lonely yet?

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/