The Yearning

Firewind

Now that all my dreams come true
They seem a frozen false reality
And though my hopes have not all gone
It's you to bring me out of all this vanityBut I'm still here to break the ice
I'll never give up the fightYearning to remember
That my dream can be reality
Yearning to remember
So I can live another dayStop this moment and believe
I'm not afraid to show you who I am
I know I'm a passenger of life
I seize the day I try so hard to understandBut I'm still here to break the ice
I'll never give up the fightYearning to remember
That my dream can be reality
Yearning to remember
So I can live another dayYearning to rememberBut I'm still here to break the ice
I'll never give up the fightYearning to remember
That my dream can be reality
Yearning to remember
So I can live another dayYearning to remember
