

Only Human

Tim Mcgraw

The kiss that never happened
The call that never came
The hurt you mask by laughing
The one that got away
It's all in a day of emotional traffic
Stranded, broken and tragic

Finding out your only human is hard
I want to change the world
But I don't know where to start
And I am bold enough to believe
There is hope among the ruins
Finding out your only human

I tried to touch the sky
But fell right to the ground
Did my best to fly
But I just kept falling down
So many hopes and dreams shattered
Expectations broken and battered

Finding out your only human is hard
I want to change the world
But I don't know where to start
And I am bold enough to believe
There is hope among the ruins
Finding out your only human

Oh human enough to forgive
Oh human enough to embrace
Oh there is hope
I am bold enough to believe
There's hope among the ruins

Finding out your only human is hard
I want to change the world
But I don't know where to start
And I am bold enough to believe
There is hope among the ruins
Finding out your only human
