Fine Lines

Kent Moran

You try to picture the perfect life
Nothing anymore seems to come to mind
When you wish you had got it right
All you seem to do is cryThere's a fine line between love and hate
The best decisions and the worst mistakes
A fine line between hope and faith
And it starts, with understandingSometimes you gotta leave it all behind
Find time, to figure out your life
It's not so black and white
There's a lot of fine lines
Fine lines
Fine Lines
Fine Lines
Fine LinesThere's a fine line between
Not listening
And not being ableThere's a fine line between Serving and sitting
With you at the tableIt might be hard
It might be hard
It might take workAll great things do
There's a fine line
Between that tooSometimes you gotta leave it all behind
Find time, to figure out your life
It's not so black and white
There's a lot of fine lines
Fine lines, yeah yeah
Fine Lines, yeah yeah
Fine Lines
Fine LinesSometimes you gotta leave it all behind
Find time, to figure out your life
It's not so black and white
There's a lot of fine lines
Fine lines, yeah yeah
Fine Lines, yeah yeah
Fine Lines
Fine Lines
Fine Lines

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/