

Glowing Soul (From 'The Waterboy')

Candlebox

Like a breaking inside my head
Storms of treason, lips of red
I trace the sand back to your bed
If your blackened heart is twisted in my head Give me some love for no reason
You'll only know, it's been all four seasons
Under the pillow from a God
No chance to part it, we're glowing souls And on and on, the sun shines today
Leave it outside, you know they're suffering
If you want to find out, it takes another day
Leave it outside, you know it'll wash away You let me swim inside your eyes
I found the reasons to believe the lies
Trace back the circles inside your mind
I found I'm running 'round and broken down for life Give me some love for no reason
You'll only know, it's been all four seasons
Under the pillow from a God
No chance to part it, we're glowing souls And on and on, the sun shines today
Leave it outside, you know they're suffering
If you want to find out, it takes another day
Leave it outside, you know it'll wash away On and on, the sun shined today
Find a little time to know the suffering
On and on, and sometimes it takes another day
Leave it outside, you know it'll wash away Never, never, never, never, never And on and on, the sun shines today
Leave it outside, you know they're suffering
If you want to find out, it takes another day
Leave it outside, you know it'll wash away On and on, the sun shined today
Find a little time to know the suffering
On and on, and sometimes it takes another day
Leave it outside, you know it'll wash away
