

Second Chance (Anything Box mix)

The Echoing Green

Let's go...When you walked away
What was in your mind
To turn and leave it all behind?
The One True Love
Was it not enough?

So now, tell me what did you find?Did pain embrace you with open arms

While hurt was scratching at all your scars

And love, so close yet seemed so far...Love's not far, far behind

It's never too late to change your mind

When you fall and start to cry

There's always a second time

There's always a second timeNow that you're away

What do you feel inside?

A never-ending playground ride?

Now you've fallen off

Some kind of twisted fate

So now, why do you hesitate?You look and wish on a falling star

Does it remind you of who you are?

He wants to heal up your broken heart...Love's not far, far behind

It's never too late to change your mind

When you fall and start to cry

There's always a second timeThere's always a second time

There's always a second time

Keep in mind, the second timeThere's always a second time

There's always a second timeYou look and wish on a falling star

Does it remind you of who you are?

He wants to heal up your broken heart...Love's not far, far behind

It's never too late to change your mind

When you fall and start to cry

There's always a second timeLove's not far behind

(Second time, second time)

There's always a second timeLove's not far behind

(So keep in mind, your second time)

So keep in mind, your second timeThere's always a second time

Songwriters

ALLEN SCOTT MILLERPublished by

Lyrics © DEMI MUSIC CORP. D/B/A LICHÉLLE MUSIC COMPANY Song Discussions is protected by U.S.

Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnlrics.com/>