Forever Knowing

Treble Charger

It is really so nice?
Does it really matter to write a postcard?
I've been watching the sky
It's a little reply I wait forIt's a place over there
Not what anyone said it might be
I'd like to be unaware
Surprise aren't even fair, if you ask meIt's so nice you join in
It makes everything clear
You spend forever knowing
Then decide to appear
And I know the place that you've beenI've been thinking all day
Lights are spinning around my head feels
In a different way
I'm beginning to make some sense hereIt's so nice you join in
It makes everything clear
You spend forever knowing
Then decide to appear
And I know the place that you've never beenNow I'm always tired
Never did find out
All the things you liked
What you went withoutI'll be spending forever knowing
