

Oh Lord Your Love

Caedmon's Call

Oh Lord I give You all I have but it seems so little
When You have given me so much
I come to You with empty hands and a heart that's fragile
You come to me with a wealth of love Oh Lord Your love is new with every morning
Your faithfulness it gets me through the night
You bid me come, You know that I am weary
Your yoke is easy, Your burden is light And now I sing You songs of praise
But Your greatness is beyond me
I know I cannot comprehend how You ancient of days
Stoop Yourself to call me to be Your son, to be Your friend Oh Lord I give You all I have
But it seems so little
