Morning

Various - Jazz, Blues, Funk

night

passes slow

get up moon go, I can't take it

my thoughts

weigh me down

and I'm prisoner to my blanket

'cause I'm thirsting for the brilliance of the glorious return of

chorus

the morning

sleep

enter my body

I promise this time we won't fight you

Dream

Come and reveal

what my mind won't let me feel, I won't deny you

bird

where have you gone come and sing me your song, I won't chide you

sun

come and crack open the sky and let your golden light through

'cause I'm thirsting for

the brilliance of the glorious return of

chorus

the morning

fear

you're not wanted here

hitch a ride with a tear wash away then

light

is what I yearn for

if its behind that door, then let me break it

chorus

light

is what I yearn for

if its behind that door, then let me break it

chorus

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/