You Take It Slowly

Telekinesis

you talk a lot but nothing seems to make sense there's not much there just fragments in the spider's web defective language let the sound move through your head collect the dead and maybe you can make a new friendnow we're ashamed just look at what's become of us the bells are ringing but there's nothing in our eardrums affect the past for everyone to gawk and stare just try to slow it down, just try to make it more clearyou take it slowly you take it easier
