

Born

Blindside

As I stand here watching your worn-out shell

You used it well

I can feel it in the atmosphere somehow

I want to see with your eyes right now

I know you've never been this close before

You've been feeling homesick for a while

This is the moment you've been longing for

The gate is slowly opening more and more

And I'm already missing you

I always thought the walls between

The worlds were bigger was thicker

And I'm already missing you

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>