That Girl In Your Hands

Aaron Edson

I will always remember when the girl I was gonna marry went and fell for my best friend I guess I should've known better but my eyes got all teary when I wished him well and shook his hand

I'll always love that girl in your hands
Don't expect you to ever understand
But just give her all the love that you can
Try to be a good man to that girl in your hands

A few years later I learned so much better about the kind of love a man can have inside Just an hour after the wedding my new wife's father said,
Let me tell you something about your bride

I'll always love that girl in your hands
Don't expect you to ever understand
But just give her all the love that you can
Try to be a good man to that girl in your hands

And I've kept my promise ever since that night
Though I've made some mistakes
I'll always treat her right
Cause I may not be her father, but I think I understand She's worth more than all the riches in this land

Cause my wife just had a baby
A beautiful little girl
I never knew that I could love this way
As I took her to the window to show her this new world
I could swear I heard her Heavenly Father say

I'll always love that girl in your hands
Don't expect you to ever understand
But just give her all the love that you can
Try to be a good man to that girl in your hands

Lyrics Submitted by Elizabeth Reed

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/