Summer

Blackfield

Love me as the summer gone
When eyes were closed and days were long, so long
I burned a torch for you but all the while Somewhere in the haze you lost your smileLove me as the winter comes Don't cast your shadow on my soul, please don't Don't let me sink, don't let the darkness in
Let your perfect fingers touch my skinHeart needs a home
It's a dark and empty road when you're aloneLove me as the springtime comes
Let your song drift down the stairs to me
Waiting here along the way to blue
Remembering the days I spent with youHeart needs a home
It's a dark and empty road when you're alone
