Fantasy

Lush

When I'm home I listen hoping for a clue
And you know they can't tell us what to do
When you're gone, out of sight not out of mind
But you know this feeling took me years to findAnd your eyes, they always know where it hurts
And your lips kiss me till I'm fit to burst
Each day you watch me with your static gaze
And smile, naked at my silly waysPlanets spin around your head
Milk and sugar in my bed
Even when you're far away
I can hear you every dayWise hands grasping
The delicate prize
I just wait for the
Time of our livesMy desires can't be bought in black and white
Only you make me feel secure inside
For I know you really love no one but me
And I smile because they think it's fantasyNo one knows what's going on
They don't know where we belong
Let you swim around my face
Live inside my special placeIt's only you that holds the key
Don't know what you do to me
In our little secret world
I can be your little girl
