Young Man (Sierra's Song)

Cee-Lo

Hey baby, hey baby, heyHey there young man
It seems like your sight's been blinded
Oh, how I wish you could see
The very life that you're lived been tailored by many An' mixed in abilityOh, I wish you'd do more than just keepin' it real
Why don't you try bein' true?
One song could save the life
Of the young ones dependin' on you
Hey, young manHey, young man, I understand why you so angry
I grew up exactly the same
Daddy was gone, so you had to find your own way
An' he's convenient to blameDespite those circumstances, don't you stop standin'
Don't give up whatever you do
'Cause just like you once were Now your son is dependin' on you
Hey young manHey there young man, why degrade your only sister
An' call them bitches an' whores?
What if one day someone feels the same way
About that daughter of yours?Oh, if you had one inklin' of an idea
Of what they had to go through
Of course she's strong
But she's still dependin' on you
Hey young man, hey young manHold on Well, well, well, well
Alright y'all

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/