Romance Is Dead

Paloma Faith

The plastic flowers you gave
Sit on the table so unstable
And there's some greasy fingerprints
On that pre-wrote birthday cardYou wrote your name in
And I know that you make your effort
But I think you could do much betterA rose is blue and violets red
Say it isn't true, don't tell me romance is dead
So wake up, you sleepy head
All your dreams are just a kiss awayI ask you for a letter
So you emailed, have we failed?
Oh, you kiss with such a potential
Then ask to speed up, it's not enough
Now I'm carrying my own bags up
17 flights of stairs loveA rose is blue and violets red
Say it isn't true, don't tell me romance is dead
So wake up, you sleepy head
Think of all the magic we could make
All your dreams are just a kiss awayIt shouldn't take valentine day
Just to show you love me
You don't need any money
Just a bit of imaginationA rose is blue and violets red
Say it isn't true, don't tell me romance is dead
So wake up, you sleepy head
Think of all the magic we could make
All your dreams are just a kiss awayA rose is blue and violets red
Say it isn't true, don't tell me romance is dead
So wake up, you sleepy head
Think of all the magic we could make
All your dreams areA rose is blue and violets red
Say it isn't true, don't tell me romance is dead
So wake up, you sleepy head
Think of all the magic we could make
All your dreams are just a kiss away
