

Who Loves Life More?

Sloan

Stayed up one time
Until late in the evening
I had so much fun, I couldn't help myself
I knew I had to see the rising sun I did and thought even then
I didn't want that moment to end
For some it's enough but gimme some more
Staying up or staying in, well, who loves life more? Though I have to confess this
I blacked out while I was still dressed
Some do the work that others ignore
They'll be busy but who loves life more? Early to rise, I was working one morning
I got so much done
I had been up for hours but knew
I had see the setting sun I did and thought even then
I didn't want that moment to end
For some it's a pleasure and others a chore
Schedules or sleeping in, well, who loves life more? Though I have to admit
Near the end I slacked off a bit
Some people play but are they secure?
They get by but who loves life more? Stayed up one time
Until late in the evening
(I had so much fun)
Stayed up one time
Until late in the evening
(I couldn't help myself) I did and thought even then
I didn't want that moment to end
Restoring the mind or minding the store
Punching in or punching out, well, who loves life more? Though I have to suggest
A small dose of both would be best
For some it's enough but gimme some more
Breathing in or breathing out, who loves life more?

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnlyrics.com/>