Coming Home (Freedom)

Mimes On Rollercoasters

Lying there awake in a quiet anticipation.
It seemed as if tomorrow; tomorrow will never come.
Freedom's almost here, so close that they can taste it.
Marcel has done his time, and he's finally coming home.

Ending the injustice life has dealt him; they know that he will never be the same.
Riding on a wave of emotion, at last Marcel will soon be free.

Freedom is all we really need; freedom is all that we seek.
Freedom is all we really need; freedom is all that we seek.
Freedom is all we really need; freedom is all that we seek.

Marcel, it's time to go.

When you're feeling lonely and lost all control.
You'd better step up and learn to survive.
There're friends that you make and friends that you keep.
All that really matters is that we are free.

Freedom is all we really need; freedom is all that we seek.

Freedom is all we really need; freedom is all that we seek.

Freedom is all we really need; freedom is all that we seek.

Freedom is all we really need; freedom is all that we seek.

Freedom is all we really need; freedom is all that we seek.

Freedom is all we really need; freedom is all that we seek.
