

Dilly

Band of Horses

Advisory - the following lyrics contain explicit language:

Just the mentioning of such a simple phrase
Are we passengers on separated trains?
Take the mask off when you speak to me
And I'm alright to go on, it's the little things But anymore, you've become
A paragon to everyone
To everyone I'm reeling in the wrong days getting behind
Why didn't I think "What in the world?"
It really took a tall one to see it
Two to believe it
Three to just get in the way All your life to think of what a mess you made
Dig a hole in the ground for your wedding ring
Rainmaker call throw your hammer down
And everything that I know can't remember now Anymore, you've become Inherent of another one
Another one I'm reeling in the wrong days getting behind
Why didn't I think "What in the world?"
It really took a tall one to see it
Two to believe it
Three to just get in the way I'm reeling in the wrong days getting behind
Why didn't I think "What in the world?"
It really took a tall one to see it
Two to believe it
Three to just get in the way

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>