Home (feat. Nico Santos) (Acoustic Version)

Topic

I'm halfway gone
We fought long enough, long enough and
We were holding ropes
But untied to love, tied to love sayingIf we had a moment we could ignite
Instead it seems we're trying hard to start a fight
Along these streets you read my words in the night
You hear me callLet me come home to you
Let me come home to you again
Don't let me lose you too
Your smile still echoes through my headLet me come home to you
Let me come home to you again
Don't let me lose you too
Tell me would you let me in
Home again, home againI'm losing light
See me burning out, burning out
I guess all these nights
Will be lonely hours, lonely hours thinkingIf we had a moment we could ignite
Instead it seems we're trying hard to start a fight
Along these streets you read my words in the night
You hear me callLet me come home to you
Let me come home to you again
Don't let me lose you too
Your smile still echoes through my headLet me come home to you
Let me come home to you again
Don't let me lose you too
Tell me would you let me in
Home again, home again
