

Wear Your Poppies With Pride

Jed Ford

Jed Ford

â€œOnly Poppies grow, in the fields where the fallen lay.

They were many,
and we must never, ever, forget themâ€•

Amidst the mud, the rats, the blood, they fought, they, bled, they died

A century has passed but their memories last
So we, wear poppies with pride

We wear poppies for the soldiers marines nâ€™ sailors for the fliers that fought in the skies

Poppies bloom blood-red in fields of long gone dead
They grow where so many lie

Wear your poppy with pride
For the many that gave their lives
November eleven they watch from heaven
As wewear our poppies with pride.

Thereâ€™s a war being fought for freedom
The right to live the way we choose
We must never forget that blood-filled-debt
Or this war.....weâ€™ll sadly lose

Wear your poppy for the Coast-Guard
For our lawmen and Women in Blue
For our children and their childrenâ€™s children
So they can wear their poppies too

So wear your poppy with pride
For the many that gave their lives
November eleven they watch from heaven
As wewear our poppies with pride
As we wear our poppies with pride
