

So Long

Willy Mason

I wrote to you last night
Because I couldnt sleep
My conscience felt the paradox
Of law between the sheets When I woke up this mornin'
I knew I had a song to sing
But Im too scared to sing it now
Theres no time for daydreams I camped out on the floor
Of a university
I saw kids runnin' so, so fast
That they could barely see Bars across my window
For a my own safety
I wonder is this really where
Where I wanna be? So long, so long
Ill be movin', movin' on
So long, so long
Ill be movin' on Dirty, dirty feet
From the concert in the grass
I wanted to believe
That freedom there could last Sixteen eyes now watch me
For the choice Im bound to make
Their doubts threatens to draw me
From the path Im bound to take So long, so long
Ill be movin', movin' on
So long, so long
Ill be movin' on Do you remember
When we were young?
And we could name
The things we ran from? What are your shadows hiding now?
When anxietys a nightmare
Which hero is gonna come around?
Well, Ill come around, if youll come around So long, so long
Ill be movin', movin' on
So long, so long
Ill be movin' on, movin on
Movin on, movin on
