On a Storyteller's Night

Magnum

There's a stormlamp on the table
Throwing shadows to the gable
And you swallow if your able
On a storyteller's nightFrom the poorhouse chimes indifferent
Seven towers seven sisters
Every blackheart walks the distance
On a storyteller's nightTry to sleep on your pillow and dream
Sleep all God's children to keep
Though we all lose track of time
Disappears like painted liesKeep your night light burning
I'll come through the wind and rain
Keep your night light burning
I'll be with you once againThere's a chill wind at your back door
And the fire cracks on the damp floor
You hear footsteps but you're not sure
On a storyteller's nightSee the night sky super nova Chase the cold moon passing over
Start the dragon's fire to smoulder
