

Passerby (Lil' Brit)

Speakzodiac

Seems like always, it's just like a prayer,
Don't forget your lines, the part, it's all in your head.

A guy behind playing tic-tac-toe,
Crowd ain't easy, and
Now, you rather be alone with time.

But don't you rely on it, cause it's never been nice.
Not enlightened too, won't you believe it,
It really just comes and goes.

Cut some slack, well love is a drag.

Make believe what you want, believe it while it last,
Time it rhymes while you sleeping through,
All this mess, are just getting in and out of hand.

The crashing revolutionaire,
Nevermind all, only their moments to reign.
In the end, don't think I can stay,
Triggered passion unfold, my vision distorted.

It's alright, all is bright, that's the saying,
Don't turn blue,
Won't you try the least to stay alive,
Passerby.
It's alright, not as bright, what am I saying?
What's the use in being alive,
When there's nothing reeling inside.

Rather be alone with time,
But don't you rely on it, cause it's never been nice.
Not enlightened too, won't you believe it,
It really just comes and goes.

It's alright, all is bright, that's the saying,
Don't turn blue,
Won't you try the least to stay alive,
Passerby.
It's alright, not as bright, what am I saying?
What's the use in being alive,

When there's nothing reeling inside.

Looking through what's within you,
Still I don't know what I have found.

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnlyrics.com/>