

I Hope It's Wonderful

Echo Orbiter

Somewhere, someone out there can make me feel real again
But you are the light in my life, and I am afraid of the dark

Atop the balcony, she reaches down to me "Please take me away"

There really is something here in a generously warm memory
Too busy looking, to see time transcending life in sleep

Atop the balcony she whispers down to me "You'll always have my love"

I miss my bride; the way she reflected the moonlight
Hello my love; if you can hear me though distance; you're where I belong
I've found my home; don't leave me now that you've made me
Remember this? I said I'd love you forever, and that's just what I'll do
