

Blessed Be

Lukus Wells

Step inside yourself and emerge
Enter a realm of worlds
There is more behind, more to find
You're living through eyes so blind
Embedded in hollowness
The future lacked, marked out before your feet
Don't break the circle, play your part
Remain silent in your seat
Be a shadow in the dark
Erased and blanked you'll fall apart
Be among, be nothing else
Blessed be thee who lost yourself
Come walk the footsteps of lost generations
Take a dive into the source of all lies
Let it's water flow your cistern
Jump into paradise
Go on, everyone
I hoped you liked the feast
Life's the book of blood, unforeseen
Is it's day, try to get inside, not through Seize it as it opens up before you
Answer that riddle before you'll show you everything, you've really never been
You'll be a man before mind, in a land before sin
You must pretend you are, everything that you're not Look down upon what you've been, give away all you've got
No mistakes ever made
Predestined you must let all instincts fade
Entrapment based within thee
But you will always [Incomprehensible]

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnlyrics.com/>