Hey World

Petra

It could have gone either way When it came down to the choice To keep the life within A life that had no voiceIt must have surely seemed The harder road to choose To be so young to have to say Who had the most to loseBut she came through like a champ And she blessed the world that day Then gave the hope of a better life When she gave him awayNow the innocence and joy Is there each day he wakes Expressions of his love of life In every breath he takesHe could have been thrown away Before he had a chance to sayHey world I am here and I have something to give Hey world

I'm alive and I am wanting to liveHey world
I am here and I have something to give
Hey world

I'm alive and I am wanting to liveHe turned to lock the door

As he wiped away a tear

The hopelessness of missing love
His adolescent fearAs he struggled for the strength

To put the gun away

He found the courage and the hope
To face another dayHe could have been blown away

Before he had a chance to sayHey world I am here and I have something to give

Hey world

I'm alive and I am wanting to liveHey world
I am here and I have something to give
Hey world

I'm alive and I am wanting to liveDown the corridor of life
In between our death and birth
We may start to lose our way
In the search to find our worth
Our value comes in the fact we live
Life is a gift, only God can giveHey world
I'm alive and I am wanting to live

Hey world I am here and I have something to giveHey world I'm alive and I am wanting to live Hey world
