Lie A Little

Lynn Anderson

Lie a little before you break my heart
I know what's going through your mind
You plan to leave our love behind
You're wondering how to break the news to me
I hate to see you worry so
I love you but I'll let you go
First you'll have to help me set you free
(If you could) lie a little and tell me you still care
Try a little to ease the pain I bear
Say you love me once more before we part
Lie a little before you break my heart
[steel]
And now that I am losing you
What harm can make-believing do
If for a little longer I pretend
If you have ever cared at all
Give me the chance to break the fall
Lie a little say it's not the end
(If you could) lie a little...

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/