

Breathe Low & Deep

TEEN

No matter how many times
How many times, how many times I'm told
My words are only a gift
Given by a mouth so bold
Please tell me how
Am I supposed to resist its kiss?
It is a kiss, that give us bliss
No matter how many times I'm told
No matter how many times
How many times, how many times I've mourned
I keep running back to the hands
Who've done nothing but scorn
Please tell me why do I plead and plead
As if I have no choice but to bleed
No matter how many times I've mourned
Breathe low and deep
Breathe low and deep
Breathe low and deep
Breathe low and deep
You have meddled in my affairs from the beginning
To only tell me that once again I am sinning
A debt in future, our only way of winning
Yes, if I move to the side, allow for only sitting
So you tell me twice
Here's a piece of advice
Just play it up nice
A silent den should suffice
And it you hush for the night
Damper and dim your light
Put down your fancy flight
You soon shall see what's right
Breathe low and deep
Breathe low and deep
Breathe low and deep
Breathe low and deep

Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>