Coffin Nails

The Banner

Don't give a shit about it
Curl up, I start to doubt this Something has died in me today
Smell the decay
I need some air around me
Claw walls until under nails bleed
Don't steal my coffin shut today
Coffin nails
So hard to pull
I cannot break free
From the ties that hold you down
From the grips of loneliness
There's something missing in my life
That I'm running after
Never meant to be held down
All I need is home right now
'Cause there's something missing in my life
That I'm running after
Self doubt breaks down my resolve
It cripples part of my soul
And masterfully I'll hide my pain
Smell the decay
Dead eyes and a hollow smile
Pitch black, my vision is gone
And masterfully I'll hide my pain
Coffin nails
So hard to pull
I cannot break free
From the ties that hold you down
From the grips of loneliness
There's something missing in my life
That I'm running after
Never meant to be held down
All I need is home right now
'Cause there's something missing in my life
That I'm running after
These coffin nails are keeping me
From the only thing I know
This monster's holding me

How will I break free
From the ties that hold you down
From the grips of loneliness
There's something missing in my life
That I'm running after
Never meant to be held down
All I need is home right now
'Cause there's something missing in my life
That I'm running after

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/