Any Love

Alex Bugnon

You go out every night as a single
But you don't really know what to do
You see someone that you'd like to mingle
And imagine that she is waiting for you'Cause any love that you feel is real
Any time that you use love, you lose loveThere is no certain crowd that you run with
But your passions, they never run thin
You say, "Hi", they say, "Hi", and it's done with Still you don't really love from deep within'Cause any love that you feel is real
Any time that you use love, you lose loveBatted eyes and bitter tears
Price you pay for all the years
Of holding back what's deep inside
And living with a hell of a lot of liesAny love that you feel is real
Any time that you use love, you lose love
Any loveAny love that you feel is real
Any time that you use love, you lose love
Any love that you feel is real
Any time that you use love, you lose loveAny love that you feel is real
Any time that you use love, you lose love
Any love that you feel is real
Any time that you use love, you lose loveAny love that you feel is real
Any time that you use love, you lose love

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/