

Selfless

New Found Glory

Break a mirror and ignore all my features
The fate I'm facing
See what I could do without safety
Make my palms bleed, do all asked of me
With my hand over my heart Made a pledge to never grow up a bitter dinosaur
Never make mistakes that I made before
Never feel entitled
I just want to know I've contributed I wanna live selfless
Instead of just floating by
Living every day like it's my last
I can catch up on my sleep when I die
Aren't you sick of being selfish?
I wanna show that I try
Living every day like it's my last
I can catch up on my sleep when I die Anxiety is a crippler
Nothing meaner than loaded eyes
Followed by a smirk and a whisper
As I pass you by, but I'll let it fly
'cause my hand is sewn to my heart With the pledge
To never grow up a bitter dinosaur
Never make mistakes that I made before
Never feel entitled
I just want to know I've contributed I wanna live selfless
Instead of just floating by
Living every day like it's my last
I can catch up on my sleep when I die
Aren't you sick of being selfish?
I wanna show that I try
Living every day like it's my last
I can catch up on my sleep when I die If I'm not making any sense
Then you're not at fault
You just haven't yet felt emptiness
Like the taste of a flat soda
Thought it would be so sweet
You got all you dreamed but still feel incomplete
No, I'm not
Gonna settle anymore
Gonna hold my tongue
If you haven't made enemies

Then you've never stood for anything
You're just dust in the breeze
I'm just dust in the breeze
But I want to be a hurricane I wanna live selfless
Instead of just floating by
I wanna live selfless
I can catch up on my sleep when I die
I wanna live selfless
I wanna show that I try
Living every day like it's my last
I can catch up on my sleep when I die

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnllyrics.com/>